Lobkowitz Palace

After more than four years of planning, restoration, and refurbishment, the Palace opened its doors to the public for the first time on 2 April 2007. Today, it houses the Lobkowitz Palace Museum and serves as a unique venue for private and corporate events.

Lobkowicz Palace

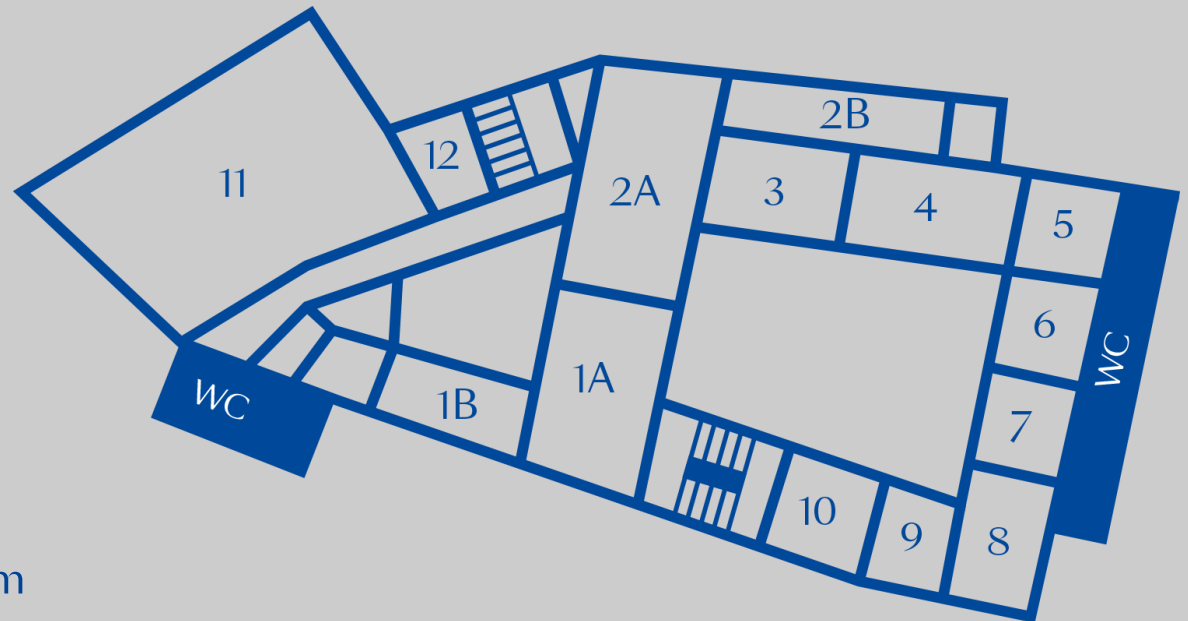

Lobkowicz Palace was built in the second half of the 16th century by Czech nobleman Jaroslav of Pernštejn. During the World War II, the Palace was confiscated. Returned in 1945, it was seized once again following the communist takeover in 1948. The palace was returned for the final time in 1989 after the Velvet Revolution.
