Easily Accessible & Short Distances

Portugal has 5 international airports with excellent connections to all major European hubs, North America and South America. Whether it's Lisbon, Porto, Algarve, Madeira or Azores, Portugal has something to offer for everyone.

Mediterranean Climate

300 days of sunshine / all year round destination

Excellent MICE Infrastructure

Considered a TOP MICE destination, Lisbon alone offers more than 13,000 rooms in 4* & 5* properties with large conference & exhibition facilities. Porto and Algarve are no different with new conference centres (Vilamoura) and accommodation options in walking distance.

Multilingual Fluency

Easy communication – Portuguese is our official language, 80% of the population speaks English and many are fluent in a third or fourth language.

Diverse and Endless Choices

Ancient & trendy, friendly & charming, Portugal not only offers diversity in its nature, history & gastronomy, but also in its extensive choice when it comes to venues, meeting facilities, accommodation & innovative event solutions.

Your people in

Portugal

Passionate about our country & islands, we are dedicated to offering personalised destination experiences and sustainable event solutions in Portugal. Our reputation and long-lasting relationships within our community allow us to offer you flexible terms and conditions, while being an extension of your team.

Reduce, reuse, recycle

We are committed to:

Eco-friendly dinner concepts, plant-based options, organic and local produce, green powered venues, reusable decor & digital menus, reduce and re-use plastic & paper, supporting local businesses, respecting culture and traditions, utilising transportation with the least emissions, fair trade and faire prices.

Offset your emissions

As travel will never be emissions-free, we are giving you the option to have your programme emissions calculated, and have teamed up with a local nature park to offset emissions by planting indigenous trees and maintaining them until they are mature.

As part of our ongoing efforts to offer innovative concepts and sustainable event solutions, we have incorporated a company and events sustainability policy.

Luxury in the Countryside

In the past years the desire and curiosity to explore different areas of Portugal, beside the main cities, reflected a growth of unique properties, creating a niche segment of family owned boutique hotels and country houses. Many of these can be booked exclusively.

Fun & active

possibilities

Portugal is not only about history, food & wine. Being blessed with diverse landscapes, unique locations and nature, enjoying the destination can be fun and active. From canyoning in the Azorean waterfalls, sunset party cruises in the Algarvian coast, hot air balloon flights in Douro Valley or Alentejo, F1 race track experiences in Estoril or Algarve, bridge climbing in Porto or even rafting in the a natural Geopark, the options are diverse and unique.

Meet & dine

outdoors

Blessed with over 300 days of sunshine a year, Portugal offers ideal set-ups to meet & dine outdoors. Being part of the Portuguese nature to enjoy the sun and the outdoors, not only do the hotels & restaurants offer outdoor solutions, but also historical Palaces & venues, tucked away vineyards, small estates, secluded beaches, and rooftop terraces can be exclusively booked for all kinds of events.

Make memories in Porto

Perched atop hilltops and clinging to the sides of cliffs, Porto's alluring bridges, buildings and city lanterns have kept watch over the Douro River for centuries. Fiercely proud of their heritage, the citizens of this merchant town have put their blood and sweat into commerce and wine. The last few decades have seen a revitalization of the city, with buildings, streets and squares being beautifully restored. Porto blends old world charm with a modern vibe.

Charming and trendy Lisbon

Lisbon is an open-air gallery, not just for its beautiful tile-covered façades and the traditional cobblestone designs, but also for its street art. The Portuguese capital is home to some of the best street art with local artists like Vhils and Bordalo II, who have worked all over the world. Following the revolution of 1974 political murals decorated the streets, and today artistic graffiti is even sponsored by the City Council, which led to the now famous City Street Art Gallery.

Nature is calling

The Azores

Mythologists have hypothesized that the archipelagos of the Azores, scattered across the Atlantic are the only remnants of the lost continent of Atlantis. These verdant islands filled with natural wonders and awe-inspiring scenery seem to be part of a long-lost magical world, rivalling the natural beauty of New Zealand or Scotland and referred to by many as the Hawaii of the mid-Atlantic.

Learn something new

Loyal, intelligent, versatile and an exceptional swimmer, the Portuguese water dog was a vital assistant for fishermen and at one point on the verge of extinction. Did you know that in Algarve you still have the chance to see them in action? Portugal is full of tales and traditions, offering visitors indigenous and almost extinct experiences throughout the entire country; provided by local experts, taking you in as an extension of the family.

Wine haven

Douro Valley

The rest of the world is beginning to discover what the Portuguese have known forever; the Douro region is simply one of the most glorious spots on earth. One of the world's oldest demarcated wine regions (since 1756), the Douro Valley showcases steep terraced vineyards carved into mountains, granite bluffs, whitewashed quintas (estates) and 18th-century wine cellars, offering our guests unique money-can't-buy experiences.

The isle of flowers

Madeira

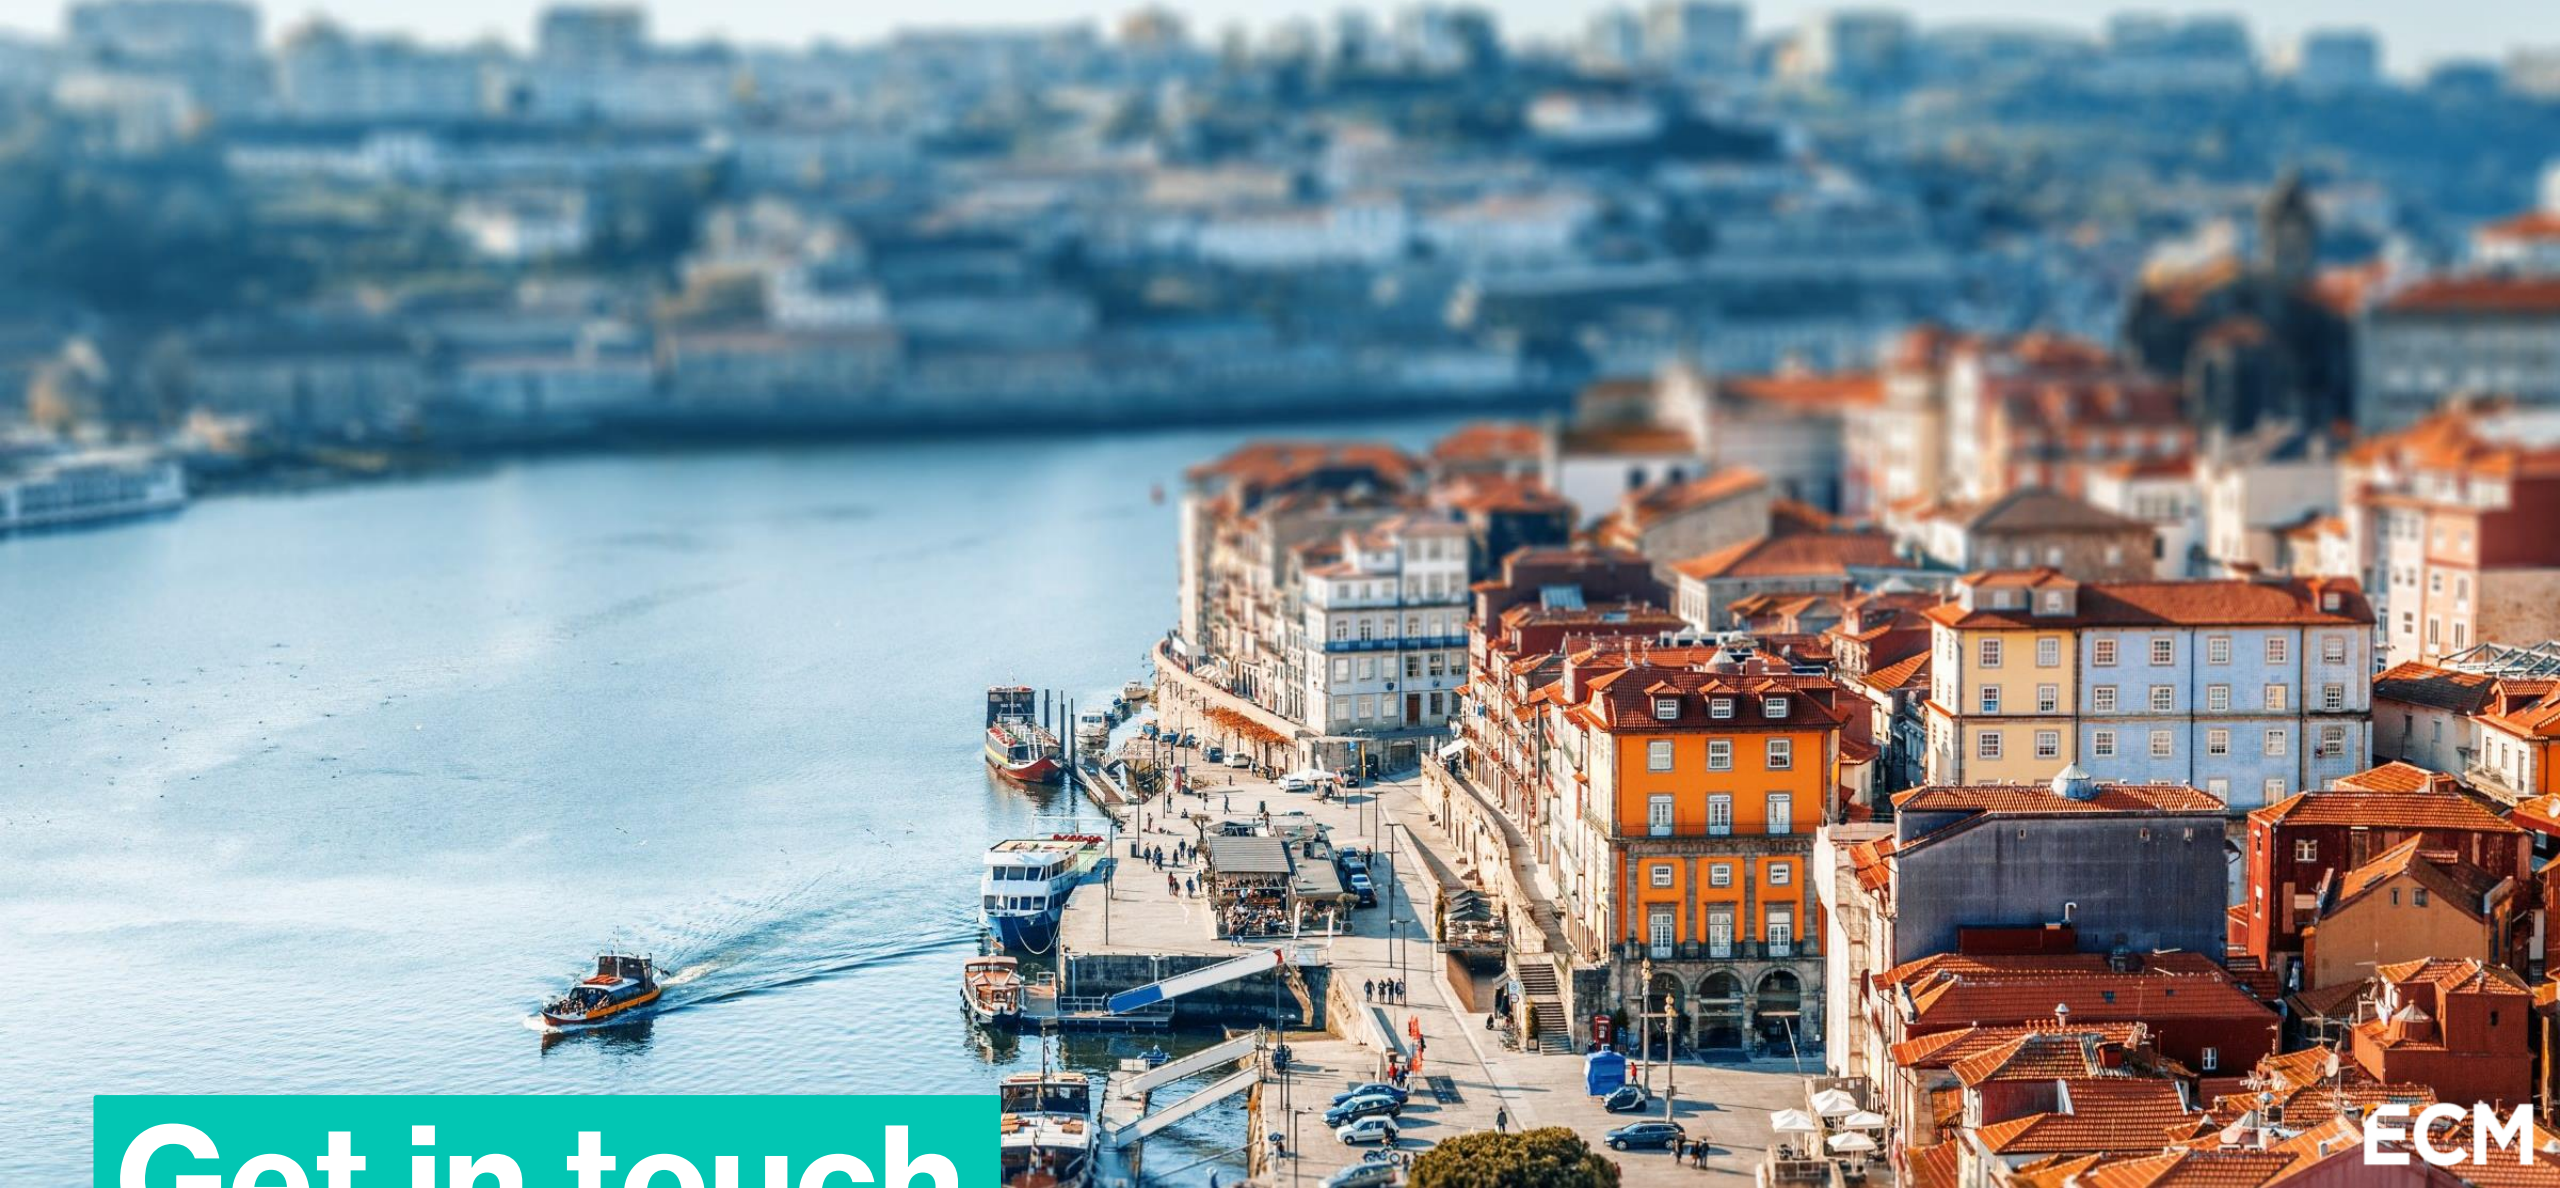

Geologically dramatic, bursting with exotic color and warmed year-round by the Atlantic sun, Portugal's most enchanting island is a place that keeps all its subtropical holiday promises. Pearl of the Atlantic, island of eternal spring... Madeira well deserves its fanciful nicknames, and the affection visitors and locals alike feel for this tiny volcanic island that offers so much diversity of all kinds of MICE events..

Great food, great cause

Imagine that for all the events you organize, the left-over food can be repurposed or donated to people in need... in Portugal this can be done for all events that require catering services. Most hotels and restaurants also have agreements in place with local associations to reduce generated food waste. This and many other initiatives can be applied to make a difference.
